MUTEK

MUTEK and hinter live join forces for a reforestation music series

The performance shows Ouri singing, playing cello and vibin on a tiny island in the middle of the water at the Thousand Islands National Park.

Montréal, Thursday, February 17, 2022 - MUTEK is partnering with hinter live to co-present their upcoming season, recorded in National Parks across Canada, in a project that intersects Live Music and Environmentalism. Three inventive shows will premiere for free on MUTEK's virtual platform between February and March 2022, while MUTEK and hinter live invite their audiences to participate in a fundraiser for the non-profit One Tree Planted.

"We are grateful for the support of hinter live, an organization passionate about making a positive impact for the environment throughout Canada. The trees we are planting will create a lasting benefit for nature, biodiversity, and habitat in British Columbia"

- Ashley Lamontagne, Forest Campaign Manager.

In 2021, the Canadian company hinter live launched a reforestation campaign with One Tree Planted, aiming to replant 8.000 trees in British Columbia's forests by summer of 2022 following the losses of wildfires. The project contributes to the Support Live Music Events program from FACTOR Canada, supporting the arts and culture industries after the impact of COVID-19.

MUTEK is a festival and conference pursuing digital creativity and forward-looking performances since it's foundation in Montreal in 2000. Following their 22nd edition in August 2021, MUTEK was nominated for the Grand Prize in the Vivats awards, rewarding eco-responsible events in Québec, winning the RECYQ-QUÉBEC Responsible Waste Management award.

The next sessions will premiere
February 22nd [8PM EST] featuring Ouri at Endymion Island
March 8th [8PM EST] featuring San Farafina w. Moonshine at Little Huckleberry Island and Korea Town Acid at Acid Point (already available)
On the platform virtual.mutek.org

The virtual event will host a chat room welcoming the artists, organizations and general public and calling for donations in real time. Audiences can join this premiere and participate in the One Tree Planted fundraiser speeding up forest recovery while providing habitat for wildlife.
